

⑥ - Antarctica

"We'll never make it," Lady Penguissa whined from the back of the sleigh. "It's called the 'Impassable Zone' for a reason."

"The bottom of the pit is smooth," said Ebenezabeth. "I bet we can push some of those ice blocks around to form a bridge."

"I'll take that bet," Lord Penguardo grumbled, but she ignored him.

Block pushing rules:

- Push one block at a time. It will slide until it hits a block or a wall.
- When a block you push hits another block, that other block does not move.
- You can't push a block away from a wall, or another block. Because you need to be able to stand behind the block to push it.

